UNDERWOOD APPEALS FOR WEEKS' APPROVAL

Five Heavily Armed Bandits Shoot the Cashier and Rob Bank

NEARLY $100,000 IS TAKEN BY ROBBERS IN BOLD ATTACK ON BIG BANKING HOUSE

Cashier Moss, of First National Shot Through the Head
BANDITS SURROUNDED IN BUILDING, ESCAPE
Two Gun Battles Fought With Pittsburg Detectives and Public
(International News Service)
PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 27.—Loot estimated at possibly $100,000, including $80,000 in Liberty bonds, was taken by five heavily armed bandits who entered the First National bank here this morning. Cashier H. T. Moss, who resisted the robbers, was shot through the head and is dying. The bandits hastily fled in a waiting automobile outside the bank. Later they engaged in two gun battles with police and city detectives in the Allegheny section of Pittsburg and although the building in which they had taken refuge was surrounded by the police, the bandits shot their way out and again escaped. A huge man hunt is in progress.

$180,000 STOLEN
HATTISBURG, Miss., Jan. 27.—Yegmen who held up the night clerk of a motor company here early today obtained $180,000 in bonds, according to reports made to the police.

BANDIT TRIED
(International News Service)
ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 27.—The state closed its case in the trial of Frank Dupre on trial here for the murder of Detective I. C. Walker, who was slain while trying to defend a Peachtree jewelry store from a bandit at noon today. Dupre's alleged confession, detailing the robbery of the store during which he snatched a diamond and fled, firing, was read to the jury by Detective Sturdivant, who brought Dupre back from Detroit after his arrest there. The defense opened its case by placing Dupre on the stand. Dupre made a brief statement, finishing at noon. He was the only witness produced by the defense. The youth declared on the stand he had committed the robbery unarmed and had shot Walker and Graham West, city controller, when they tried to stop him. West recovered. Dupre absolved Betty Andrews, his sweetheart, from any part in the crime and declared he was dazed by whiskey. The defense was given three hours for final arguments and the state two hours.

Ford Tractors in Another Drop

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 27.—Henry Ford today was near the goal of prices he set out to attain several years ago when he announced he would sell "a car, a tractor and a truck for $1,000." In a statement, Mr. Ford announced a cut of $230 in the price of the Ford tractor, bringing the selling price of the farm machine down to $395. With the new cut in effect the Ford touring car, a truck and a tractor can now be purchased for $1,137. "I believe it will do the country some good, just at this time, especially when spring is approaching, to make it easier for the farmer to get his work done at lower cost and thus help bring down the price of food and everything else," says the announcement.

INDUSTRIAL CODE IN MINING INDUSTRY IS NEW PLAN OF PEACE OF SENATOR KENYON

Recommendation to End Disputes Made After Study of Conditions
WOULD RESEMBLE THE RAILROAD LABOR BOARD
Right of All Miners to Earn Living Wage Upheld by Senator
(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Sanction by congress of an industrial code applicable to coal mining and creation of a tri-partite board to adjust differences between coal operators and miners, "that there may be peace in the coal industry," was recommended to the senate today by Senator Kenyon, of Iowa. Kenyon's recommendations were the result of a study of the mining industry in connection with an investigation by the senate committee on education and labor of troubles between operators and union miners in West Virginia, which led to armed outbreaks and bloodshed last summer and finally resulted in the calling out of federal troops. The tri-partite mediation board proposed by Kenyon would be composed of three representatives of the employees, three of the employers and three of the public, all to be appointed by the President. The new agency, according to Kenyon's plan, would be operated much in the same manner as the United States railway labor board. Among the basic principles which should be established as an industrial code for the guidance of such an arbitration board, Kenyon suggested the following:

1. The right of operators and miners to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing to be recognized and affirmed.
2. The miners who are not members of a union have the right to work without being harassed by members who may belong to a union. The men who belong to a union have the right to work without being harassed by operators who may not believe in a union.
3. The right of all unskilled or common labor to earn an adequate living wage, sufficient to maintain the worker and his family in health and reasonable comfort and to afford an opportunity for savings against unemployment, old age and other contingencies is hereby declared and affirmed.
4. Children under the age of 16 years shall not be employed in the industry unless permits have been issued under state authority.
5. Six days shall be the standard work week in the industry. The standard work day shall not exceed eight hours.
6. When a dispute or controversy arises between operators and mine workers there shall be no strike or lockout pending a conference or a hearing and determination of the facts and principles involved.

Wrong Names Are Worrying Officers

The tax collector's office is experiencing no end of trouble in properly locating the exact section and bent from whence many poll tax payments of women are being received. It is said by the officials that quite frequently it is the case that they register under one name and pay poll tax under another. For instance, Mrs. John Doe will register as Mrs. Mary Jane Doe, and pay the poll in the name of Mrs. John Doe. Were it not for the fact that those in charge and others that they can command have a fund of information and a large acquaintance over the county, many mix-ups would occur in properly crediting payment to the right beat and polling place.

KLANSMEN ON PARADE

New Method For Bootlegging

Albert Wheeler, who works at one of the large fish markets in New York, claims the distinction of having discovered a species of fish stuffed with quarts of whiskey. He made this startling discovery while sorting a load of cod just received from New England fishing banks. Prohibition agents are investigating this new system of bootlegging.

Whistles of Industrial Plants Will Blow 2 Minutes Monday to Remind Amendment Friends to Cast Votes

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 27.—Every whistle of an industrial plant in Alabama will blow for two minutes promptly at 10 o'clock next Monday morning as an appeal to all friends of good roads and progress in the state to go to the polls and vote for the ratification of the $25,000,000 bond issue for the construction of a system of permanent roads with federal and state funds. This suggestion of the Kiwanis club of Mobile was relayed throughout the state Thursday night by the Alabama Highway Improvement association with the request that it be taken up in every city and town of Alabama. The chairman of the campaign in Montgomery county, Cyrus B. Brown, elicited the aid of the Montgomery chamber of commerce in communicating with the industrial plants of the city and William F. Black, secretary of the organization, announced that he believed there would be a one hundred per cent response. Throughout the week the highway improvement association has insisted that there would be an overwhelming majority for the bond issue if all persons in favor of it go to the polls Monday. This insistence has resulted from reports from practically all county chairmen, who announced that the important work of the week was to obtain assurances that all friends of good roads will go to the polls.

Pension Warrants Are Received Here

The Confederate pension warrants have been received at the probate judge's office and are now ready for delivery. There are at this time 241 pensioners, including the widows of Confederate soldiers and although the ranks are becoming thinner with each recurring year, the amount in dollars and cents is as great as when there were double this number. This is occasioned by the fact that the pensions have been increased from time to time, depending on the age of the beneficiary, the oldest pensioners getting the largest sums.

The Kiwanis club of Mobile heralded a challenge Thursday to all Kiwanis clubs of Alabama to exceed the record it intends to establish Monday in getting voters to the polls. It insisted in a telegram that it would exceed any club's record. The Montgomery Kiwanis club accepted the challenge through James S. Parrish, president, and O. C. Humphrey, secretary, and every member of the club was notified during the day that the club "expects every man to do his duty." A night letter went to every Kiwanis club in the state telling of the Mobile club's challenge. "It's a challenge to duty," said the telegram, "and no Kiwanian has ever failed in a civic duty." The Exchange club of Montgomery voted unanimously during the afternoon in favor of the ratification of the amendment and requested every Exchange club in Alabama to vote 100 per cent for ratification. The Rotary clubs throughout Alabama have endorsed the amendment and have urged their members not only to cast their ballots for ratification but to appeal to all friends of progress to do likewise. "If Alabama men and women give their normal vote in the election Monday the amendment will be ratified by an overwhelming majority," was the message issued by Fred J. Cramton, president of the highway improvement association.

Mrs. Wood Will Be Buried Today

Rev. J. H. Hill left early today for Cedar Plains where he will conduct the funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Mary Wood, who died at the home of her son, Jesse, Thursday evening. The death of Mrs. Wood takes the last of a family, all of whom lived to 90 years and upwards, her brother, W. Perry Wallace, having died quite recently at the advanced age of 94 years. The burying ground that holds the bodies of these old pioneers is situated on a mountain top overlooking the valley where they spent their entire lives, and was selected by the husband of Mrs. Wood and W. Perry Wallace. There are other burying grounds in that locality of easy access, but there must have been a sentiment connected with the selection of this one, as it was near the old home, and stately cedar trees entirely surround it. It is difficult of approach, being rocky and steep, but when once on the top a level plateau of considerable proportions furnishes an admirable site for a family cemetery, and it is there that these pioneers requested that their bodies be deposited.

Many Convicted For Making Booze

Violation of the prohibition law in Cullman county is a pretty dangerous proposition. Solicitor D. C. Almon, of this district, returned today from Cullman where a term of court was completed this week. He brought back the report of 14 convictions on charges of manufacturing liquor and a total of 20 convictions on charges of making liquor or some other violation of the prohibition laws. Convictions for manufacturing liquor carried sentences ranging from 15 to 18 months to a term of from 2 to 3 years, the solicitor's report showed.

ROBED FIGURES IN A NIGHT MARCH ON MAGIC CITY STREET

(International News Service)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 27.—Knights of the Ku Klux Klan made their second public appearance here last night when approximately 500 white robed, silent figures paraded through the negro section of Birmingham. Headed by a large black automobile, carrying a fiery cross of Scotland, the Klansmen suddenly made their appearance in the negro district, marched silently through the entire section, covering an area of several miles, and departed as mysteriously as they came. Negroes were conspicuous by their absence. The parade of the Klansmen is believed to have been intended as a warning to law-breakers of this city and of protest over the recent activities of negro criminals who are believed responsible for a series of assaults on local merchants within the past few months. Local authorities declined to comment on the occurrence this morning.

KYLE QUALIFIES IN JUDGESHIP RACE

With announcement from Montgomery that Judge Osceola Kyle, of Albany, has qualified with the state Democratic executive committee as a candidate for re-election as one of the two judges of this circuit and reports from Athens to the effect that Judge Horton is considering making the race for one of the places on the bench, politics are beginning to warm up in the Eighth district. According to information received here from Athens, Judge Horton has been asked by attorneys of that county to enter the race. Information from Huntsville today was to the effect that Judge Robert C. Brickell, of Madison, now one of the two judges of the circuit, also will be a candidate for another term. The circuit is composed of the counties of Morgan, Madison, Limestone, Cullman and Lawrence.

AMERICAN FARMER TO ENTER POLITICS ON LARGE SCALE IS WARNING AT PARLEY

Delegates Openly Convey Word of Advice to the Politicians
THIRD PARTY IS NOT BEING CONTEMPLATED
Farmers Intend to Work Out Salvation Through Dominant Parties
(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Plain warning that the American farmer intends to dabble in politics on an extensive scale was openly conveyed to the country today by delegates attending the national agricultural conference. The farmer has no intention of organizing a third party, but he does opine that he will make his vote felt. His attitude, according to the farmer delegates, is due largely to the failure to remedy his condition and the belief that the remedy for his ills is still far in the shrouded future. Not all the delegates here are satisfied that the conference will make the farming industry more remunerative and attractive. Claim has been publicly made that the real dirt farmer has not had a chance to make his needs known. These are the men responsible for the warning given. They promise that the farmer vote will clean house in congress and that the electoral vote of the man behind the plow will be felt in every legislative hall in the country.

"The limited few who have so largely controlled the policies of both major parties for the benefit of special interests have much to fear from the uprising of the people being led by the farmer," Herbert Myrick, of Springfield, Mass., editor of a farm journal and a leading figure in the farm-paper bloc, declared. RESOLUTION REJECTED WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—At the end of a heated debate in which farmer delegates and labor representatives strove to make themselves heard above the uproar, the national agriculture conference today rejected a proposal to have it go on record as demanding reduction of wages of railroad workers and miners to pre-war levels as a means of stabilizing the farming industry. The vote was 83 to 64.

FARMERS BOLT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—A score of self-styled dirt farmers will bolt President Harding's national agriculture conference and will hold a rump convention of their own here tonight, it was announced today by Benjamin C. Marsh, director of the farmers national union. The reason assigned by Marsh was that it is the gentleman farmer and not the men who actually plow the fields who are getting recognition from the present conference. The Foreman's Association of the Louisville and Nashville shops banqueting at the Palace Cafe Wednesday evening, and had as their guests A. H. McConville and E. L. Vohlers. The last named gentleman is a brother of D. C. Vohlers, chairman of the organization, and Mrs. McConville, of Montgomery, is an official of the organization. Addresses were made by Messrs. Vohlers and McConville, and by D. C. Vohlers, who acted as toastmaster. The following shop foremen attended the banquet: L. W. Lee, F. M. Schiller, W. E. Perry, John Jenkins, T. J. Cox, H. S. Roberts, A. C. Dunnavant, S. W. Surratt, C. S. Hitch, I. J. Rogers, A. W. Wilder, John Stanley, G. B. Moore, John Moore, J. O. Richardson, J. Wiley Owens, B. D. Bassham, J. C. Holesapple.

ALABAMA SENATOR URGES SECRETARY TO ENDORSE OFFER OF MANUFACTURER

Believes Weeks Will Give "Friendly Endorsement" to Detroit Man's Bid
MAYO ARRIVES WITH THE SIGNED CONTRACT
Ford's Representative Expected to Hand Paper to Secretary Today
(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Approved and signed by Henry Ford, the contract embodying the proposal of the Detroit manufacturer to take over and operate the government's great nitrate plant and waterpower project at Muscle Shoals, Ala., was handed to Secretary Weeks at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon by W. B. Mayo, one of Ford's engineers. It was stated at the war department that Weeks would transmit the contract to congress with his recommendation to congress either tomorrow or Monday.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Secretary of War Weeks was asked today by Senator Underwood, Democrat of Alabama, to give the approval of the war department to Henry Ford's offer to take over the government nitrate plant and waterpower project at Muscle Shoals, Ala., when the Ford contract is submitted to congress next week. Weeks now is working on the report and expects to submit it to the senate and house on Monday if the contract is signed by Ford and returned by that time. "While I don't think the Secretary will give an unqualified endorsement to Ford's proposition, I am quite sure it will be a friendly endorsement," Underwood said after his conference with Weeks. W. B. Mayo, one of Ford's engineers and his representative in negotiations with the war department, has arrived in Washington with the contract signed by Ford and is expected to hand it to Secretary of War Weeks this afternoon. Secretary Weeks was petitioned also today by the Wisconsin delegation in the house to turn over the Muscle Shoals plant to Henry Ford. "The farm interests of this country demand that this project be turned over to Mr. Ford. He, as no other employer in this country, has set the pace for high efficiency, good wishes and low price of production. In the matter of fertilizers he, no doubt, will be able to render not only the farmer but every other interest which rests upon the farm a great service," said their petition. "We are informed that the plant is being bid for by Henry Ford and also by large electrical interests. In our opinion the interests of the country will be best served by turning over the plant to Mr. Ford." The petition was signed by Representatives Frear, Closser, Beck, Lambert, Nelson, Browne, Voight and Cooper, all of Wisconsin.

TWO HELD

BIRMINGHAM, Jan. 27.—"Come South young man and grow up with the country" is one of the alluring phrases which postoffice inspectors declare was inscribed on the stationery of E. F. Bauer, of St. Louis, and William H. Porter, of Columbia, S. C., who were taken into custody here this morning on charges of violating section 37 of the federal penal code which relates to employment agencies. The men, it is alleged, inserted advertisements in papers in a score of northern cities, in which they represented themselves as official employment agents for Henry Ford and offered work at Muscle Shoals to all who might apply, providing a fee of $1.00 was sent with the application.

TENNESSEE RIVER REACHES 20, BUT
WILL FALL TODAY

The Tennessee river today reached a stage of 20 feet, Mrs. A. H. Irons, government observer, announced. The stream, however, will begin falling here this afternoon, Mrs. Irons stated.
The river already is falling at points above here.

The pike across the river still is under water and ferries are experiencing considerable difficulty in operating. Several traveling men with automobiles were forced to leave the machines at Athens and make the trip southward by rail.

NOTED CHURCHMAN
TO SPEAK SUNDAY

J. M. Patterson, of St. Louis, secretary of foreign missions of the Presbyterian church, will speak in all the Presbyterian churches of Albany Sunday. Mr. Patterson has recently returned from an extended trip through Africa and other foreign countries of which he will give a report as well as to tell of the work of this, the greatest board of the church.

It will be an opportunity for those interested in a world-wide gospel to hear this able speaker tell of its progress. He will speak at Westside church at 10:30 a. m. and 6 p. m.; at Westminster at 11 a. m., and at Willoughby at 7 p. m. The members of these churches were urged to attend.

CHURCH DISCUSSES
$9,000 ADDITION

Mr. Breeding, an architect from Birmingham, met with the church officers, Sunday school officers and members of the Decatur Presbyterian church on last Tuesday night and discussed the plans for a Sunday school building which that church will soon erect in their lot fronting on Vine street.

Mr. Breeding was employed to prepare plans and specifications. The building will cost about $9,000. Those working for this new building are very enthusiastic and look forward with much pleasure to the completion of an annex that will give them plenty of room.

HOTEL REPAINTED
The Hotel Hilda has just undergone a complete renovation on the interior, each room being painted and decorated, and the lobby as well. As soon as weather conditions permit, the exterior will receive a coat of paint, and other features of decorative art
will be applied.

Getting Rid of a Stubborn Cough is Child's Play Now

Make the Medicine Yourself at Home
It's Cheap—but You Can't Beat It.

If you want to take care of that bad, hacking cough and do it in a few hours, better get one ounce of Parmit (double strength) and mix a half pint at home.

You can do this in two minutes by adding a little sugar and enough water to fill a half pint bottle.

You'll travel the world over before you get a medicine that will act so surely and quickly on the mucous membrane of the nose and throat. It halts the inflammation, the tickling sensation stops with the first spoonful, the heavy breathing goes and clean membrane, free from irritation and mucous follows.

For catarrhal conditions such as mucous droppings, clogged nostrils and watery eyes, it won't disappoint—
ask for Parmit (double strength).
Speak plainly so that the druggist will know exactly what you want.—Advertisement.

Army Officers Must Pass Blood Test or be Retired

For the first time since 1917 examinations of blood tests took place on Governors Island recently. Failure to pass the examination meant retirement from the army. The photograph shows an officer being examined by Lieutenant-Colonel Edward Rich, M. C., and Major H. L. Kraft. Captain Oscar Nettles, M. C., is taking notes. These three men are the chief examiners who will pass on the 300 officers who are undergoing the test.

Diary of a Fashion Model

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

She Describes a Novel Sports Costume.

LAST week I went to a delightful house party down in the country.
The invitation came just when I was bored with the city, and felt the need of a change and some fresh ideas, so I packed up and skipped out, delighted at the prospect.

The Merriwells met me at the train, and it was due to see them again. "I hope you don't mind waiting a bit," said Dick Merriwells, my new girl is coming in on the next train, and I must be here."

"Of course not," I laughingly reassured him.
"Dick will never grow up," sighed his sister. "He falls for every new girl he sees. This one he met at the college dances last week. He has told me the color of her eyes and hair, and what she had on at least ten times since."

"That's too many times," contradicted Dick, "but if you could have seen—"
"Oh, he's off again," his sister interrupted.

"What did she have on, Dick?" I asked, for I was growing interested.
"Her dress was a wonder," he declared. "I forget the color, but—"

He never finished, for our shrieks of laughter which followed were interrupted by the arrival of the train, and Dick soon returned with a lovely lavender-colored girl at his side.

"That homespun costume is stunning," whispered his sister, as Miss Dale was being introduced. "What is the fur?"

"Raccoon," I answered. "It seems to be a very soft fine quality."
"Purple suits any generation now, doesn't it?" asked Miss Dale walked on ahead with Dick.

"Yes," I said, nothing with approval
the smart purple felt hat and the cape lining which matched it. "They're even showing little girl's dresses of purple."
Miss Dale turned to appeal to us, and I saw that the lavender jacket at her belt was also purple. "I hear we're skating this afternoon," she said.

"Yes, have you your skating clothes?"
I asked.

"Well, I didn't bring a wide skirt, but I think the knickerbockers will suit me," she said.

"Oh, yes," approved Dick, "all the smartest girls about here are wearing knickerbockers for skating."
"When I wear my cape the knickerbockers barely show," said Miss Dale. "In case any of the citizens object to knickerbockers, in some places I know they do."

An Army Marches On Its Stomach, Said Napoleon

The Great Corsican Knew That Success in Life Depends Upon Your Strength, Energy and Endurance.

By HARRISON VAUGHN

When Napoleon led his victorious armies through Europe, his worst enemies were not the nations defending themselves against his smashing onslaught; but he was confronted by the graver question of how to provide nourishing and strengthening food for his soldiers.

The Great Corsican realized long over a century ago, as has every commanding general since, that men's bodies must be perfectly nourished if they are to retain their natural strength, energy and vigor; in fact, that the very health of the human being is regulated almost entirely by the stomach. Under-feeding, insufficient nourishment, means loss of flesh, anaemia, lack of red blood and subsequent weakness of the entire system.

What such people need to enable nature to bring back their strength and vigor, restore their lost weight, and put them in fighting trim, with rich, red blood coursing through their veins is Tanlac, the powerful reconstructive tonic and body builder.

A man or woman suffering from sour stomach, bad breath, biliousness, indigestion, or gas on stomach, is unfitted either for physical or mental labor. Sufferers from these ailments find life a burden; they look on the world through blue glasses, the joy and rewards of the vigorous, happy, normally healthy person is not theirs. Their troubles embitter them against the world, destroy their ambitions and make their lives dull and unhappy.

How foolish to continue in this condition when on every hand throughout the length and breadth of the land people by the thousands are daily testifying to the remarkable powers of Tanlac in conquering stomach troubles. This powerful reconstructive medicine builds up the weak and the despondent; gives them new hope and happiness and a new lease on life.

Tanlac's name has been praised by hundreds of thousands. Testimonials from every corner of the United States and Canada have shown conclusively that even in cases where patients had almost given up all hope and where men and women had believed themselves doomed to a life of misery and suffering, Tanlac has overcome their troubles and brought back health, energy and happiness into their lives.

If you are not "fit as a fiddle" in the morning and don't feel better than when you went to bed; if your breath is offensive and you have that bad taste in your mouth, your body is not being nourished properly. What you need is Tanlac to restore you to normal so Nature can bring back the flesh you've lost, put the bloom of health in your cheeks, the sparkle of happiness and contentment in your eye.

NOTE—Tanlac Vegetable Pills are an essential and vitally important part of the Tanlac treatment. You cannot hope to get the most satisfactory results from Tanlac without first establishing a free and regular movement of the bowels. Tanlac Vegetable Pills are absolutely free from calomel and are sold on a positive guarantee to give satisfaction.

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

DINNER FOR CHURCH OFFICERS

A dinner was given by Mrs. T. M. Dix at his home on Thursday evening at 6 o'clock for the officers of the First Baptist church in Decatur. At a prettily appointed table blue-bird cards were used to mark the places for the guests, who were: C. C. Davidson, Paul Dix, Arthur Dix, F. R. Towns, J. H. McMath, W. W. Fussell, J. W. Montgomery, E. D. Bailey, Dr. F. R. Beason, A. T. Hanson and J. T. Nelson. Dainty buttonholes of narcissus were presented each guest as favors.

Four courses were served at dining table, after which conversation was enjoyed.

THURSDAY CLUB

Mrs. Sarah Jeffries entertained the Thursday club and some friends Thursday afternoon at her home on Cannal street. A delicious luncheon was served at the card tables, to the club members and the following: Mrs. Dyke Echols, Mrs. Arthur Jones, Mrs. B. P. Wallace, Mrs. W. K. McNeill, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Vohries and Miss Mary Penick. The guest prize, a box of stationery, was given to Miss Mary Penick, and the club prize, a vanity, to Mrs. E. M. Bloodworth.

The Palladian Literary society met in regular order Tuesday afternoon, January 24 in the High school auditorium. The following officers were installed for the second semester: President, Mary Collier; vice president, Earline Johnson; secretary, Inez McCall; treasurer, Carl Thomas; reporter, Clarice Lee; censor, Virginia Ross.

The president then appointed the following committees:

Program committee, composed of Louis Bell, Earline Johnson, Inez McCall, Beatrice Lee, Clarice Lee.

Membership committee, composed of Otha Wilson, Evelyn Davidson and Laura Mae Graham.

AUCTION BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. John W. Knight was hostess to the Auction Bridge club this week. Miss Caldwell, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. M. Murray, was the guest, substituting for an absent member of the club. Mrs. Knight won the prize, two handmade handkerchiefs, and Miss Caldwell was presented a dainty handkerchief as a memento of the afternoon.

Dainty Flour is dependable

It is milled from sound wheat

THOSE who use Valier's Dainty Flour sometimes wonder that their neighbors worry so about their baking these days. If they only knew why!

Flour to be good must be milled from good wheat and good wheat is scarce. The crop was injured last spring by an unseasonable freeze.

What was not harvested early was wet by frequent showers. Stored damp, it did not dry and cure properly. Much of it is musty.

But those who use Dainty have no trouble. We bought a supply of fine prime soft winter wheat before the showers came. It is stored in the big elevators beside the Dainty mills.

Because this fine wheat cost so much more than ordinary wheat, Dainty must cost a little more than ordinary flour—perhaps a cent a day more if you bake often. But isn't the fine baking that Dainty produces—isn't its reliability worth that?

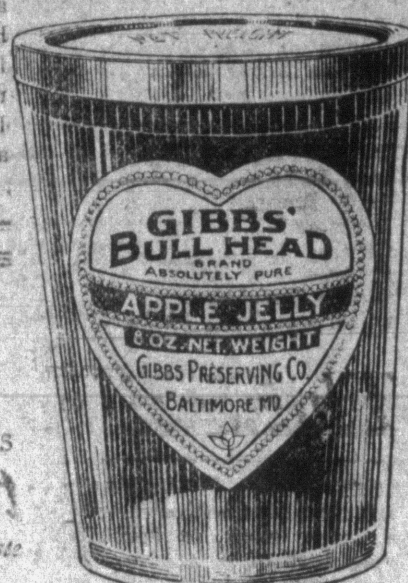

Your grocer carries Dainty—ask him for a sack—it costs much less than it did last year

YOUR HEALTH

What Inflammation Is— the Five Classical Symptoms

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, New York City

DR. COPELAND

WHEN I was a medical student, the professors used to describe inflammation as a condition in which there were present four chief symptoms. These we set to music and we used to sing:

"Redness, swelling, heat and pain."
The most common cause for inflammation is an injury of some sort. This injury may be a blow, a pinch, crushing, cutting and all the other ways tissues are hurt mechanically.

The injury may be due to freezing or excessive cold. It may come from burning, scalding or cooking—excessive heat in some form.

There are many bacteria or germs which excite inflammation. Poisons cause inflammation. They may be like acids which burn the tissues. They may be irritants like poison ivy, setting up inflammatory action or they may be poisons which act through the system, like corrosive sublimate.

When an injury occurs, it is followed by dilation of the blood-vessels in the affected part. This accounts for the redness, the first symptom of inflammation.

The blood-vessels are elastic tubes, capable of dilation and of contraction. You will recall that the blood passes from the arteries, through the capillaries into the veins.

What Causes Redness.

After an injury and the first rush of blood has subsided, the white blood-cells, which are lighter than the red, naturally go to the outer parts of the blood current. Here they cling to the inner walls of the capillaries and veins.

If you could examine the injured part under a microscope, you would see the entire inner surfaces of the blood-vessels lined with the white blood-cells.

You probably look upon the blood-vessels as such solid and substantial structures that they never leak. But the white blood-cells have a way of finding crevices through which they can creep and have left openings through which fluid, known as "serum," and even some of the red cells may pass.

With the blood elements filling the tissues, we are not surprised that swelling occurs. So now we have the second symptom of inflammation, swelling.

The increased blood supply raises the local temperature, producing the third symptom, heat.

With the tissues crowded with serum and blood-cells, and with these still pouring out of the vessels, we are prepared to find other effects due to the exudation. The delicate nerves are placed under pressure and, pretty soon, they begin to complain. Thus we get the fourth symptom of inflammation, pain.

If the inflammatory process is in some

Jasper Cagers to Play Austinville

The basket ball team of Jasper (Walker county high school) will make a trip through the Twin Cities Saturday enroute to Birmingham. Through the management of the teachers athletic committee of Morgan county, this team has arranged to stop off and play the Austinville high school on the Austinville court. Jasper will be remembered as the winner of the state championship in football a few months ago. They are said to have a very strong, aggressive cage team and have won several victories this year.

Austinville has not been beaten by a strictly school team this season and has one of the strongest teams in the county. Austinville has a strong man in Roper at forward. They are good in pass-work and an interesting contest is promised. The game will be called at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. F. E. Burleson, of Hartselle, may be secured to referee the game. Coach Weaver, of Austinville, announces his probable lineup as follows: J. Roper, C. Weaver, forwards; H. Linderman, center; W. Pepper, L. Roper, guards.

CRAMTON URGES VOTE FOR HIGHWAYS

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 27.—Believing that the highway bond amendment will be ratified by an overwhelming majority if the voters go to the polls next Monday, the Alabama Highway Improvement association today requested every county chairman to have his organization call every telephone early Monday morning and request that every person in the business or household go to the polls.

This method of campaigning proved unusually successful in the campaign of 1920 in Montgomery county. Many persons volunteered to take one or more pages of the telephone directory and call each number, requesting that each voter cast a ballot.

"The important thing now is to get all voters to the polls," said F. J. Cramton, president of the association, in commenting on the campaign which will end with the election Monday. "Reports from every section of the state indicate that a vast majority of the people are for highway construction, for the matching of the federal appropriation for public roads and for the employment of the idle labor, machines and materials in permanent improvements."

"The rains of the past few days have demonstrated as never before the need for a system of roads which can be traveled every day, but these same rains will prevent many persons in the country, who realize the need for good roads, from going to the ballot boxes. Therefore, it will be necessary to make up this vote by the ballots of the people in cities and towns who can get to the polls."

"The campaign has now reached the highest point. Reports from county chairmen show that all beats in their counties are being covered during the week. Volunteers who know what a great road building program will mean to the state have quit their personal affairs for the week and are giving their full time to the campaign. The great effort now is to reach all voters with the appeal that they go to the polls. Every friend of good roads should take upon himself the duty of requesting all qualified voters to cast their ballots."

"Wonderful work is being done by the ex-service men, not only because they are personally interested in the success of the ex-service men's poll tax amendment but because their experience in the army and navy have convinced them that no nation can furnish its citizens all that is best in life without a system of permanent roads. Those men of the army who saw the roads in France and England want roads in America which can handle the traffic of this age. They are doing their part. I urge every citizen to do his part."

MY MARRIAGE PROBLEMS Revelations of a Wife

Adele Garrison's New Phase of

Copyright, 1922, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

The Strange Request Madge Made of Lillian.

THAT Dicky was concealing something important from me, something concerning affairs at home, I was sure, not from his insistence that we start home at an early morning hour—for we both like as early a start as possible when we are taking a long motor trip—but from his general uneasy demeanor. He is a most transparent person. As my Peter Pan, and I could see very plainly that he was worried.

There was no use taking him with my belief, however. Except upon the occasions when his temper or thoughtfulness gets the better of him, he is chivalrous to a fault. It is his firm conviction that his womankind should be shielded from unpleasantness, and he was patently working overtime upon his present task. But while Dicky is chivalrously protecting me, he also, in the years since we were married, has confided his troubles and joys to me very freely, and I know that he was on tenterhooks at having to keep whatever knowledge he possessed to himself.

Dicky hurried away from the bungalow as soon as he had issued his ultimatum about starting the next morning at seven, and I looked around me with dismayed eyes. He had been packing his belongings in his own fashion, and the results were before me in a suitcase and a bag standing open in the middle of the floor. They were open because no one on earth could have closed them without forcing them into sections. And articles of Dicky's wearing apparel and his personal belongings were strewn upon every article of furniture in the room, while I found one of his shoes and a perfectly good hat under the bed.

Lillian Is Relieved.

I knew what Dicky's leaving the bungalow meant—permission for me to repack his things. It is a farce repeated every time we make a journey. He resents fiercely at first any attempt to mine to see to his belongings, but after a session with them, he clears out and leaves the field to me. Of course, that puts me in the position where if anything is lost or damaged he can blame my packing, but that affords him such a satisfactory outlet if things go wrong that I am glad to exchange it for his absence from the scene.

There were several things to be seen to, however, before I finished packing, and of those the most important was telling Lillian of the plan. I hurried to her room to her bungalow, and told her the news.

I know how anxious she was to get away from the present tense emotional atmosphere with which Robert Savarin's jealousy was enveloping her, so I was not surprised at the look of relief which swept her face, nor at the vigor with which she began to move around her rooms, characteristically beginning to work even before I had finished my errand.

Madge Packs.

"I wish you'd do something for me," I said, smiling. "But I warn you it's something that's downright dishonorable."

"Short of murdering our host's entire family and setting fire to the house afterward, I am at your service," she retorted. "What particular brand of second-story work do you desire?"

"Nothing so strenuous. I simply want you to gain my husband's confidence, and then bring me your knowledge."

Lillian awarded me for a second with suddenly narrowed eyes, as if she realized that there was something very real behind my teasing. But her speech carried on my conceit.

"If I turn his doubt inside out and show you the links," she promised carelessly, but there was an intensity in her eyes which told me she was waiting to hear my real meaning.

"Something's wrong at home," I said. "I know it from the way Dicky's acting—high and lofty purrings of shielding tender wife from the truth. I've seen him do it before. And he's also trying to tell somebody the trouble, so I suppose he'll wear on your shoulder in another hour or two. Please encourage the babbling, and then let me know what it's all about—of course."

I added conscientiously, "If it's anything you can tell me."

She picked up a tiny pair of embroidery scissors and held them aloft melodramatically.

"Samson's locks shall be sheared," she declared dramatically, and I went back to my packing with the security that if the knowledge Dicky had was anything I ought to know I would in all probability be in possession of it before I slept.

I attacked the packing methodically, first leaving out every article of clothing which Lillian, Dicky and I would wear on the homeward trip, and the velvet articles we would require the next morning. Then, with a sigh of thankfulness for the forethought which had made me arrange the parcel-post packages, I succeeded in getting all my things and Lillian's into my own suitcase and bags, even leaving a space in one of them for any overflow of Dicky's. A stout linen bag for the soiled clothing, another for the miscellany which the last minute brings, I left open, ready for the final wind-up of things the next morning.

And then—with a long breath—I attacked the problem of Dicky's packing.

The Way Junior Helped Madge and Dicky.

SHOES next to his best negligee shirts, a box of brown shoe polish snugly wrapped in his best white flannel trousers, these were but a few of the things I found to remedy in Dicky's packing.

I was fatigued by the trip to Kingston, nervous over the possibility of trouble at home, which I imagined Dicky might be keeping from me, and when after a strenuous day I finally succeeded in finding a place for each article of Dicky's belongings, and strapped his suitcase, leaving space in his dressing bag and the emergency linen sack for the last things, I was almost ready for nervous tears. And when Dicky came in bringing Junior with grimy face, hands and knees, his romper and socks so torn and dirty that he could not possibly wear them any more, I lost the last remnant of my self-control.

"What have you been doing with that child?" I demanded crossly. "Just look at him!"

Dicky's face darkened. "What have I been doing with him?" he echoed. "What have I been doing with him? That's a good one. I've only been taking care of him all day while you've been taxiing your pals to trains. I suppose your fastidious soul is cut to the quick because he has a little bit of dirt on him and isn't brushed like Eugene Grantland's hair."

His tone, even more than his words, seemed to raise tiny blisters on my mental cuticle. I rose from the chair where I had flung myself in utter weariness, walked with as much dignity as I could, nearer to my child's side, and took him by the hand.

"I Will Leave—"

"Please tell Mrs. Cosgrove that I shall be late to supper," I said icily. "I shall have to give this child a full bath and change him from head to foot. And his rompers are all packed away. I had counted upon his wearing this the rest of the day. You will pardon me, I am sure, for not reading your mind correctly this morning. I naturally believed your assertion that you did not wish to escort Miss Dean to Kingston. I am extremely sorry that the care of the baby has been so irksome to you. Come, Junior."

I took the baby's hand, pulled him toward me, and felt him jerked violently back again. The movement for I had not released the child—brought him so close to my husband that our faces were almost touching, and to my excited imagination it seemed as if I could actually see tiny sparks glinting from his eyes.

"You'll get no chance to play the martyr-act this trip, my lady," he sneered. "I suppose your delicate constitution has been shattered by one more dose of domestic packing. I'll take this child and wash him and he'll wear this rig right in to the supper table."

If I had not known Dicky so well, I would have witnessed amazement at this point, for the thought of Junior appearing before the assembled paying guests at supper in his present plight was not to be thought of. But I knew that such an entrance would be even more irritating, if possible, to fastidious Dicky than he would be to me, so I felt safe in dropping the baby's hand, and walking toward the door, saying coolly:

"Of course you are the stranger phrase. I could not fear the child away from you without hurting him, therefore I will leave him with you."

"Let's Check the Row"

My hand was on the door knob, and I was waiting to see what ingenious method of stopping my Dicky would invent, when a pitiful little wail from Junior made me turn my head.

"Ma-ma! Ma-ma!"

His baby face held such a wonderful, grief-stricken expression that I covered the distance from the door to him almost at one bound, went on my knees, and gathered him into my arms. As I did so, Dicky abruptly released the little chair's hand, and haughtily strode toward the door in his turn.

Even through my remorse for having grieved my baby boy came an appreciative recognition of the ludicrous performance Dicky and I were staging. And then Junior put in his baby oar again:

"Turn back to Dooner, papa," he commanded.

It is the little cry with which the child always summons his father when he is going away. I have known Dicky frequently to miss his train at the command, and to get away afterward under a surly frown. Dicky hesitated but a second before obeying Junior's call.

And then—I suppose because to kiss the child he had to bring his face near to mine—I felt his arms go around me roughly.

"We don't deserve this baby," he said, his voice trembling because he tried to make it stern. "Let's chuck the row and quit this shaming up and down the middle, and dress him together."

And with Dicky's kiss upon my lips I acquiesced.

DEMAND STRONG FOR DAILY CARTOON

Much favorable comment is being heard on the exposition cartoon that appeared in the Albany-Decatur Daily.

This drawing is being used on posters to advertise the exposition, and owing to the fact that it very cleverly shows the close relation of Albany-Decatur to the Muscle Shoals district, it is in demand for sending out to all parts of the country.

The chamber of commerce and Kiwanis club will furnish as many copies of the posters as may be wanted for enclosure in business letters sent out by business men, and will also furnish the same for any citizen who will

TEST MINERALS AT BIG EXPOSITION

The owners of lands on which there are any kind of minerals now have a splendid opportunity to have such minerals inspected, analyzed and perhaps tested out for manufacturing purposes, by calling on or writing the chamber of commerce or the Kiwanis club.

At the coming industrial exposition to be held in the Twin Cities the last 10 days of February there is to be a complete exhibit of the minerals and crude materials of North Alabama. Everyone interested is invited to at once get in touch with the management of the exposition for this exhibit is now being prepared.

The mineral and crude material exhibit is to be made one of the features of the exposition that the manufacturers of the country may be made to realize that this section contains an abundance of crude materials and minerals for manufacturing purposes.

Such minerals and crude materials are wanted as iron ore, coal, silica, glass sand, kaolin, marble, pure limestone, asphalt, black shale, slate, bauxite, clays, etc. Samples of the best minerals will also be placed on exhibition in Chicago where the attention of the manufacturers of the Chicago manufacturing district will be called to the same.

The progressive program in the Southern Presbyterian church has fixed February 12-19 as a week of prayer, preaching and self-denial for the cause of foreign missions. Local members of that church have been notified that during this period special offerings will be made for this cause, and inasmuch as pledges made for the current year have not all been paid in some of the churches special efforts will be made to close these up.

The universal day of prayer for schools and colleges and all attending these institutions has been fixed for February 26, and the executive committee of Christian education and ministerial relief of the church at Louisville, Ky., has prepared some interesting literature covering this day of devotion which will be sent on request.

The program also calls for special effort during the month to secure payment of all amounts promised to the several church committees and agencies during the year, as it is desired to present a clean sheet at the meeting of the general assembly in Charleston, W. Va., in May.

Ancient Almanacs.
The clog almanac, once in common use in parts of England, is a square stick, on the four edges of which are cut notches to represent the days of the week and various symbols to indicate different festivals and holidays. More ancient than clog almanacs are the Scandinavian runic calendars, made of wood, or sometimes of horn or bone, and inscribed with runic letters.

"Those Who Dance Must Pay The Fiddler"

There's a settlement in profit or loss, for nearly every indulgence.

Sometimes the pay-day is long deferred, and in that case the settlement may bear compound interest.

Often a payment in ill health is required for the dance had with tea or coffee during earlier years. Sometimes the collection comes in sleeplessness, sometimes in headaches, sometimes in high blood pressure, or in nervous indigestion—sometimes in all these penalties.

Nerves won't always stand the whipping of tea and coffee's drug, caffeine.

If you've been dancing to tea or coffee's fiddling, why keep on till payment time comes? If you're beginning to pay, now, why not cancel the contract?

There's an easy and pleasant way to avoid tea and coffee's penalties, as thousands have found who have changed to Postum. It is a delight with any meal—rich, comforting and satisfying—and it never harms. Even the little children can have a breakfast cup of Postum, with no fear for what may happen to sensitive nerves.

Instead of paying penalties for your meal-time drink, let it pay benefits to you, by giving natural health a full chance—and begin the new arrangement today. Any grocer will sell you, or any good restaurant will serve you Postum.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

MOTHER GAVE IT

Virginia Lady Suffered With Aches and Pains Until Mother Began Giving Her Cardui.

Dublin, Va.—Miss Mary Alice Hughes, residing on Route 2, near here, recently told a visitor of her interesting experience with Cardui. Miss Hughes said: "I had been suffering for some time with painful... I was pale, didn't feel like going. Would just drag around, and couldn't rest to do any good. I would suffer once a month with my back, sides and head. My limbs would ache and I didn't know what to do, but I knew I must do something, for I didn't get well by letting it run on."

"My mother is a believer in Cardui, for she saw what it did for others as well as herself, so she began giving it to me."

"It wasn't long before I saw a change. It was just what I needed. It regulated me. I began to eat and sleep, and the pain stopped."

"Cardui is without doubt the best female tonic made, and I am glad I can recommend it to others."

"If suffering with symptoms such as Miss Hughes mentions, or other ailments peculiar to women, why not begin Cardui at once? Its merit is well established by successful use for more than 40 years."

POLLY AND HER PALS

Now What Kind of a Worm Did Ma Really Have In Mind?

THE HOME KITCHEN

By JEANNETTE YOUNG NORTON
The Authority on Home Cooking

Here Are Five Desserts That Are Different

The question of the daily dessert is uppermost in the mind of the home cook, mistress or maid, and a dessert that is different is always sought. The one usually chosen is inexpensive and easy to make, though often made of materials which are on hand. In fact, the woman away from conventional shops is often forced to do her thinking up. Her surest helper is her book of tested recipes, and she is wise to grasp every opportunity of increasing her collection from good and reliable sources.

Coffee Souffle.
Scald four tablespoonfuls of finely ground coffee in one and a half cups of milk, in a double boiler. Cream a quarter-cupful of butter with seven tablespoonfuls of cornstarch and a quarter-saltspoonful of salt. Beat three egg yolks and turn into the sugar mixture, then strain in the coffee-flavored milk, turn all into the double boiler and stir as it begins to blend and thicken. Remove from the fire and cool, then fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites, pour into a greased mould, set the mould into a pan of water, and bake fifteen to twenty minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

Cafe Pa-tait.
Pour one pint of boiling water over coffee and let it stand ten minutes. Add three-quarters of a cupful of sugar and a pint of cream. When cool, strain, add a half-pint more cream and freeze. Fill parfait glasses, top with whipped cream.

Whipped cream, and garnish with cherries when serving.
Taffy Pie.
Mix a pie crust of two and a half cups of barley or whole wheat flour. Add a half-teaspoonful each of salt and baking powder, a half-cupful of olive oil and four tablespoonfuls of water. Both liquids must be chilled. Use a little white flour on the board and handle the crust lightly. Line the buttered pie-plate with the crust, prick it three or four places with a fork, then bake until done. Have ready the taffy mixture, one cupful of molasses, half a cupful of sugar, a teaspoonful of flour and a tablespoonful of butter. Heat well and add a teaspoonful of vinegar. Pour into the crust, lattice the top with thin strips of crust and bake twenty minutes in a medium oven.

Fig Pudding.
Chop six ounces of suet fine and add three-quarters of a pound of flour, a half-teaspoonful of salt and enough milk to make a soft dough. Roll out a half-inch thick and spread with a pound of finely chopped figs. Dust with sugar, add a tablespoonful of butter and two teaspoonfuls of vanilla. Roll the crust put in a buttered cloth, drop in boiling water and boil an hour and a half. Serve a good hard sauce or any pudding sauce liked, or a fruit sauce is good with the pudding.

Danish Pudding.
Soak a cupful of tapioca overnight in six cupfuls of water. Cook one hour in a double boiler, then add a saltspoonful of salt, a cupful of sugar and a small tumbler of currant jelly. When the jelly is melted and thoroughly mixed pour into a mould which has been wet with cold water. Chill, and when the mixture is set unmould on a fancy dish and heap with flavored whipped cream.

Russia to be Represented at European Council

It has been officially announced that Nicolai Lenine, will represent Russia at the Economic Conference to be held at Genoa, Italy, shortly. The conference is being called for the purpose of bringing all European Powers together in an effort to stabilize economic conditions.

Try a Want Ad

Methods of surgery in the past was widely different from the practice now. Then it was thought to bleed one from both sides of the body was necessary in order to complete the operation. Now we know that the blood circulates and an incision made on any point of the human frame will accomplish the result sought to be attained.

Bleeding was done before newspapers grew to be the medium through which news was disseminated. The average family consists of five members, so three thousand copies of a paper will, according to this calculation, be read by fifteen thousand readers. Formerly if one had an article for sale or exchange, the sale or exchange was not effected until the buyer or seller came together.

Today the want ads solve this problem as many can testify, and at once get results. Try a want ad in The Daily and see how quickly the article you have for sale or exchange is brought to the attention of one who wants the very article you have. They are inexpensive and have a great selling power.

RELIEF CAMPAIGN IN FULL SWING

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 27.—The Jewish War Relief campaign is in full swing throughout Alabama. Encouraging news from all centers where the campaign is being pushed vigorously have been received at headquarters here.

When questioned about the progress of the drive, Isidor Weil, state chairman, said Wednesday: "The work is great. People, regardless of creed, are in sympathy with the cause and are contributing liberally, realizing that the brotherhood of man is behind the movement. I am getting excellent reports from all over the state."

The smaller communities are showing up splendidly. One of these after only two days' campaigning has reported more than $1,290. Wealthy families in some localities have made the offer of contributing a generous percentage of whatever total amount their city raises. The larger cities, such as Mobile, Birmingham, Montgomery, are conducting strenuous campaigns. No state returns have been tabulated, however.

The relief funds will be used to allay the fatal starvation and intense suffering, which are destroying the very life of the Eastern European Jews. They are to serve as substitutes for these people, for whom life has lost its zest and is suspended in the slender thread of hope alone. The Jewish Relief committee, with its $14,000,000 fund, will strengthen this thread into a mighty cord which will lift the people from the slough of despond to the bright highways of life.

Tax Collector Asks For Help

The tax collector gets two and one-half cents for writing each poll tax receipt. If he should furnish the postage in transmitting the receipt to the payee, he would have left one-half cent for the trouble plus the responsibility.

It would greatly facilitate the getting of the receipt either for poll or general taxes by sending self-addressed stamped envelope, otherwise the receipts are torn out and put on file, and can only be gotten by calling in person or sending stamps as stated above.

The observance of this rule will save much delay and inconvenience.

Kiddies' Colds Can Be Eased Quickly
